

A woman with dark hair tied back, wearing a white short-sleeved dress with a tiered skirt and a light-colored apron, stands in profile facing left. She is tending to several tulips hanging from a horizontal wooden pole. The tulips are in various stages of bloom, with some white and some pink. The background is a white, textured wall. In the foreground, there are two large, dark, rustic ceramic pots on the left and a metal grate floor on the right.
